Budget survey 'asks leading questions'

"LEADING" questions are being asked of residents in a budget consultation survey, according to councillors.

Cllrs Tony Brown, Maureen Byrne and Gordon Cox, who represent Haverhill, joined colleagues from the non-majority parties on St Edmundsbury Borough Council, to discuss their own savings ideas.

A budget consultation survey, which expires on Friday, suggests a number of potential savings for the financial year 2015/16 – but also asks several "leading" questions of residents which do not give room for comments, say councillors.

The consultation was launched on July 21 by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Cllr Byrne, deputy mayor of Haverhill, has particularly criticised survey questions which relate to people's jobs.

In one, the survey asks if staff at the bus station in Bury St Edmunds should be "removed" to save more than £122,000.

In another, it asks whether or not the council should consider using more volunteers in parks, open spaces and museums instead of paid employ-

She said: "It is totally unacceptable to ask volunteers to provide the work currently being performed by employees."

"The employees will have members of the public decide who is employed, and may well suggest volunteers if they think their precept will not be increased if such savings are made."

The "top of the organisation" could be looked at for changes, Cllr Byrne added, and money could be saved by using former mayors and deputies for duties, if needed, instead of having a deputy borough mayor.

Haverhill resident John Burns said there was not enough space for residents to comment on the questions.

Some of the points were so "biased", he said, that a yes or no answer was not appropriate.

In an open letter to the council, he said: "The actual questions themselves are so misleading and biased that I feel on many of them I want to put comments suggesting complete alternatives rather than a simple yes/no/not sure answer."

Cllr Brown also criticised the "leading questions" asked by the survey.

"It is trying to get you to go down certain avenues," he said.

"I didn't like the way the public were being asked if these people are going to keep their jobs – it's like The X Factor."

Cllr Brown suggested money could be saved by looking at bin collections. He said getting rid of brown bins, used for compostable waste, across the borough would be beneficial.

This waste should instead be put in black bins, currently used for household waste, and put towards Suffolk County Council's "energy from waste" programme.

The move would actually make money, Cllr Brown added, not lose it.

Cllr John Griffiths, leader of the borough council, reassured residents that no decisions have yet been made.

He said: "Our budget consultation is inviting comments on a number of sugges-

Priest is charged with fraud

ACCUSED: Ian Finn

A PRIEST has been accused of defrauding a church out of more than £10,000.

The Rev Canon Ian Finn, of Hopton Rise, Haverhill, will appear at Bury St Edmunds Magistrates Court on September 16.

Mr Finn was yesterday charged with one count of fraud by abuse of position, relating to offences allegedly committed between June 2007 and March 2014.

It is alleged that he dishonestly gained more than £13,000 from St Mary the Virgin church, on the town's Mill Road.

John Howard, spokesman for the Church of England in Suffolk, said: "This matter is with Suffolk Constabulary and the courts and it is therefore inappropriate to comment at this stage."

Mr Finn, 55, has been released on bail.

Charity ride bike stolen from summerhouse

A TREASURED bike, which has been used for charity rides, has been stolen.

Jason André, of Eastern Avenue, Haverhill, woke on Tuesday to find his bike, a Claud Butler road bike, missing.

The bike, which Jason has used for an overnight ride from London to Cambridge and the Ride London 100, was being stored in a summerhouse along with other bikes, and a lawn mower.

Jason went into the summerhouse on Monday at around 3pm to get out his lawn mower, and all of the bikes were there.

When he checked at 6.30am on Tuesday, it was gone.

Jason, who works at Castle Manor Academy, added: "The biggest problem for us is that it makes us feel uncomfortable at home."

"This is a lovely place that we live in and our community has been spoilt by one person."

A spokesman for Suffolk Police confirmed that they are aware of the incident.

He said: "We again urge residents to secure their property by locking their sheds and outbuildings."

Over 120 take part in GP merger survey

A DOCTOR has said he cannot "single-handedly" continue to care for patients as the only partner in his practice.

Dr Bamidele Sule, partner at Stourview Medical Centre, has praised patients who have so far completed a survey regarding his practice merging with Dr Selby and Partners.

There are just 10 days left for patients to share their views.

Combining the Haverhill surgeries would create one larger practice, with a new name, and deliver more health services to patients.

Since the survey was launched in July, more than 120 patients across both practices have taken part to share their views on the proposal.

Both negative and positive responses have been received from those affected by the merger.

A main concern is the impact this could have on appointment waiting times - as well as the potential for patients to see an individual doctor.

Dr Sule said it is "important" for the merger to go ahead so patients can receive the correct standard of care.

DEBRA FOX

"It is pleasing that so many patients have taken the time to give their views on the merger plans," he said.

"It is understandable that Stourview patients have concerns about the changes. However, I cannot single-handedly continue to provide the safe, high quality care that my patients deserve, which is why it is important that the merger goes ahead."

Other patients have welcomed the change, saying that the merger will not affect them or their families - and will bring improved services to the town to boot.

It has not yet been decided whether or not the new surgery will run from one premises or continue to operate from the two current surgery buildings.

Dr Neville Selby, partner at Dr Selby and Partners, added: "Every piece of feedback given by our patients will be used constructively so that we can make the merger as seamless and straightforward as possible."

"Of course, patients are concerned about how their GP service might look in the future, but this merger will deliver real and positive benefits to healthcare provision in Haverhill."

Dr Sule appeared at the last full meeting of Haverhill Town Council to answer questions from residents and councillors alike.

There are 14,000 patients across the two surgeries, he said, and the merger would be "the best option" for all of them.

After being independently assessed, the survey results will play a key part in the merger.

Responses must be in by 5pm on August 31.

Visit christmasmaltings.co.uk or stourviewmedical.com. Hard copies can be collected from the surgeries.

Have you responded to the survey? Do you think the surgeries should merge?

Fish spotted in brook after Anglian Water pollution

FISH have been spotted in the Stour Brook - only weeks after the entire population was killed by pollution.

The Environment Agency has confirmed that the water quality returned to normal "fairly quickly" after a problem at the Anglian Water Recycling Centre in Haverhill around August 5.

This led to sewage entering the brook.

Fish have since been spotted in the river, but the effect on the fish population is still being investigated.

The principle of 'polluter pays' will be applied, the agency has said, if there is a need to restock the river.

An Anglian Water spokesman said the company will follow the agency's guidance on action for the brook, if needed.

Vera's Day fundraiser is this weekend

A ONE of a kind fundraiser is coming to Haverhill this weekend.

Businesses in Queens Square have joined forces in memory of Vera Jewell, who died in May.

Vera was an integral part of the square's annual Macmillan fundraiser held each September, so friends and family decided to honour her with an event.

Money is being raised for the leukaemia and neurology wards at Addenbrooke's, where Vera was treated for cancer, and later, a brain bleed.

A range of stalls will line the square. There will also be refreshments, raffle tickets and a range of other entertainment.

Visit the square on Saturday from 10am.

PARTY TIME: The tribute night on the Market Square.

Pictures by Nick Keeble

Don't stop me now! Having such a good time at tribute night . . .

HUNDREDS of families enjoyed the hits of Queen and ELO at a free live music event.

Residents packed Haverhill's Market Square to full capacity on Saturday as they turned out for the second tribute night of the year.

The event paid homage to Freddie Mercury and co's finest tracks, and Jeff Lynne's hits in ELO.

The entertainment kicked off at 8pm, and lasted all evening – with singalongs and cheers filling the town.

Nick Keeble, Arts Centre Manager, said the events provide a real mix of everything for parents and children. The tribute nights, held every year, are a highlight in the town's calendar.

Earlier this month, a 2,000 strong crowd enjoyed boyband favourites, swooned over tributes to Robbie Williams and Olly Murs, and took a trip back in time with classic movie soundtracks.

There were also tributes to fan favourites Lady Gaga and Madonna. Saturday's event formed part of the town's "Saving the 70s initiative", in partnership with Haverhill Local History Group.

Man headbutted after 'rap battle'

A BEATBOXING battle between two groups led to a man being headbutted, a court has heard.

Daniel Coltman, of Colbeck Road, Haverhill, appeared at Ipswich Crown Court on Monday after pleading guilty to assault causing actual bodily harm.

Coltman, 26, was out with a group of friends in Haverhill town centre on January 17 when they encountered another group.

The two groups engaged in a "rap battle" and traded "good-humoured" insults with each other from opposite sides of the road, the court heard, before moving on.

Later that night, Coltman was walking home when a verbal rap battle between himself and Alex Rusby, whom he had never met, started.

DEBRA FOX

Hugh Vass, prosecuting, told the court that the pair ended up face to face, and Coltman delivered a headbutt.

The victim was treated at Addenbrooke's Hospital, Mr Vass said, and was told by doctors he may be left with some permanent markings on his face.

The court heard that after the incident Coltman stayed with Mr Rusby to make sure he was OK.

In a police statement, the 26-year-old said he was "concerned" that Mr Rusby was continuing with the rap battle, even though he had asked him to stop.

He added: "I didn't know what else he would do. I accept that what I did was not proportionate in the circumstances."

Lawrence Bruce, mitigating, also said that Coltman expressed "sincere and extensive remorse" for what he had done.

Judge Rupert Overbury ordered Coltman, who had no previous convictions, to pay £1,000 compensation to Mr Rusby.

He will also have to pay £500 prosecution costs and complete 200 hours of unpaid work in the community, as part of a 12 month community order imposed by the court.

Judge Overbury said: "This was a reckless assault. You simply misjudged the situation."

Inquest opened for couple killed on A1307

AN INQUEST into the deaths of a married couple killed when their car came off the road has been opened and adjourned.

Melanie and Peter

Saunders died on August 9 when their car left the road on the A1307 at Bartlow and collided with a tree.

The inquest was opened adjourned in Huntingdon last Friday.

The provisional cause of death for Mrs Saunders, 52, was given as multiple injuries while it is thought that Mr Saunders, 55, died from chest trauma.

The pair lived on Cleves Road, Haverhill.

The full inquest is set for January 8.

TEENAGERS across Haverhill have reason to celebrate as the town's schools shone with successful A-level results.

Ninety six per cent of courses at Castle Manor Academy were passed with grades from A* to E – with 60 per cent of these marked between A* and C.

Some students were looking towards university, while others prepared to enter the working world.

Daniel Killingback, of Strawberry Fields, is hoping to study marketing at either Anglia Ruskin University or the University

DEBRA FOX

The 18-year-old achieved two "starred" Distinctions in business studies and ICT, an A in finance and a C in English literature.

He said: "In the next two weeks I will make some decisions about what I want to do. I have applied for a few jobs so I will just wait and see."

Also celebrating success were Victoria Aberly, who is going to study maths at the University of East Anglia, and Jack Vernon, who took home a Distinction in media, a B in English literature, a C in English language and a C in government and politics.

He will study anthropology at Roehampton University, south-west London.

He said: "Beforehand I had a bit of trepidation getting them, but now it feels really good to know where I'm going."

"For us, it's really about using a curriculum that really suits them. We are delighted."

Every single A-level sat at the town's Samuel Ward Academy this year was graded between A* and E, with a staggering 70 per cent of them graded between A* and C.

Andy Prestoe, head of school, praised pupils, staff and parents for their hard work and support in another successful year for the academy.

He said: "It has been a really positive day. The pupils have worked really hard, their parents have supported them and the staff have worked hard with them. It means so much to them to do well."

Jake Gardner, who achieved As in English literature and maths and a B in history, plans to take a year out and work before applying to university.

He currently works at Chippy's in Strassbourg Square but hopes to find a 9-to-5 job.

He said: "All my life I never really revised for my exams and I have always done okay."

"I put down the video games and TV and concentrated on school – and it pays off."

Jake added: "I want to have the experience and not be scared of work when I leave university."

Jamie Boulton, 18, plans to study physics at Sussex University. He got three Bs in chemistry, maths and physics.

There were high scores for those studying chemistry, English literature, geography, maths, psychology and sociology across Samuel Ward.

Both academies supported students in a broad range of subjects this year – from the traditionally academic, to modern and vocational subjects.

Consultation questions misleading and biased

OPEN LETTER TO ST EDMUNDSBURY BOROUGH COUNCIL

PLEASE note your budget consultation survey has not worked for at least three days in any browser (I have tried five different types on four different computers) from page 2 onwards as none of the radio buttons appear allowing any sort of selection.

The initial text box on page 1 for the postcode does allow entry. This therefore invalidates the survey if you end up closing it on August 21, 2014 as planned as not all residents will have been able to respond especially as it currently appears as the lead story in the Haverhill Weekly News online site encouraging residents to complete. I would strongly recommend you revisit this survey if ever you want to rely on it for making budget decisions.

At the same time the actual questions themselves are so misleading and biased that I feel on many of them I want to put comments suggesting complete alternatives rather than a simple yes/no/not sure answer. For example, question 2 implies that the decision will be made by a council employee whether a damaged or lost bin was "caused by the resident". Unless the resident answered with anything other than "I don't know what happened to it" I cannot see how the council could ever prove this beyond reasonable doubt because bins are not in the residents' possession at all times as it is a condition of collection that they are placed by the roadside on collection day which is actual council (whether SCC or SEBC) property and therefore responsibility. What should be questioned is what happens when a second or subsequent bin is damaged or lost by the same resident in similar circumstances but then I would question the benefit of doing so in monitoring and managing this process. The amount of money potentially being saved is minuscule compared to what could be achieved in other areas such as ensuring recycled waste lorries tip at the most convenient site to the collection points and not just one central one based on some contract drawn up by the council in earlier times.

In addition, and as a side question, I would like to know why it was felt necessary to post me the same A3 questionnaire asking me to complete and return by FreePost Clare Reeve from Haverhill sent in this week's picture. She said: "This shot is just a simple tree but it looked so beautiful against the landscape, so I stopped my car to get a photo especially. "It was taken in Tewkesbury near Stratford Upon Avon. I hope you like it."

Your Pictures

We love to see your photos. You can email them to: wendy.davey@Cambridge-news.co.uk considering I am on your database with a perfectly valid email address which other departments in SEBC use without problems. Based on the sending, returning and processing costs this would equate to at least £1 per resident. I have no idea how many other residents were sent this to complete across the borough but I would be asking my own department whether it could save money in the first instance by considering what it actually is doing by unnecessarily spending taxpayers' money.

PCSO good alternative to mooted traffic order

ALTHOUGH it could be argued that allowing traffic through the town centre would benefit our local retailers, the newly appointed High Street PCSO is a sensible alternative to the Experimental Traffic Order which would have seen 60% more traffic being redirected away from the High Street and through the narrow residential streets surrounding the town centre.

We'd like to thank the 200-plus residents who signed the petition objecting to the proposed Experimental Traffic Order, and to everyone who supported the petition by voting a resounding 'No' in the Suffolk County Council questionnaire. We'd also like to thank Cllr Anne Gower, Cllr Tony Brown and John Burns for their help in bringing this situation to a satisfactory and hopefully permanent conclusion.

Houses come before horses, Mr Hancock

IN spite of all our hard work we have lost the fight against the Havebury plan to build on the garage site in Cambridge Way.

The contrast between our MP's work on behalf of the billionaire stud owners of Newmarket (reported in last weekend's Independent newspaper) and his neglect of our efforts is stark. While it is important to look after the Newmarket horse racing industry, this should not mean neglecting proposals which will inevitably reduce the quality of life of those who are not immensely rich and who don't own thousands of acres.

Perhaps he needs reminding that houses come before horses and that horses don't have votes.

BUDDING dancers are toasting their hard work with a dazzling set of exam results.

Students from The Ballet Shoe Workshop in Hundon have recently taken part in ballet, freestyle and dance exercise exams.

The school, run by Alison Law, has held three exam sessions, with almost 300 exams being entered.

Dancers aged between 3 and 21 took part, with many achieving Honours of Summer fun for all at free Parkway day ...

FAMILIES from across Haverhill flocked to the playing fields to enjoy the end of the summer.

The Parkway Fun Day took place on Castle Playing Fields yesterday. Drinks and hot food were available from the town's rugby club, and there was also an ice cream van on site.

It followed the Big Day Out, Picnic in the Park and Chalkstone Fun Day free events held across town this summer.

Abbeycroft Leisure is reinvesting £73,000 into the Haverhill Leisure Centre to expand the facility's gym and power room.

The centre, on the town's Ehringshausen Way, will get more than 40 extra fitness stations, have its power room expanded and have an Xcube training station installed.

It is hoped that the new facilities will be open in the autumn.

Warren Smyth, chief executive of Abbeycroft Leisure, said the money is the start of a yearly reinvestment programme for the trust.

DEBRA FOX

He said: "As a charitable trust we reinvest all profits made back into providing health and fitness for the local community.

"We are seeing a boom in exercise classes in Bury and in our gym and power room in Haverhill and we need to meet that demand.

"This significant investment that we are announcing today will meet that demand and give customers what they need to meet their fitness goals."

The Xcube training station will allow users to focus on exercises designed to help the body do real-life activities.

Abbeycroft, which manages the centres in partnership with St Edmundsbury Borough Council, is also reinvesting £41,000 in the leisure centre at Bury St Edmunds to meet demand for exercise classes.

The money will also pay for the centre's creche to be moved to one of the squash courts. There will also be a creative learning centre, costing £2,500, for children to play.

Neil Anthony, head of leisure, culture and communities for West Suffolk councils has praised Abbeycroft's investment.

He added: "I am doubly delighted, first that demand for exercise activity in the borough is growing and also because Abbeycroft Leisure is investing in first rate facilities to meet demand.

"The health benefits of being more active have wide reaching implications for the overall cost of public services and I applaud Abbeycroft's success, which comes from the great relationship it has with its customers."

Duncan battles wind and rain to raise £1,200

DEBRA FOX

A CYCLIST who pedalled more than 80 miles in hurricane-strength winds, has raised more than £1,000 for a cancer charity.

Duncan Thomas took part in the RideLondon-Surrey 100, and is raising money for Children with Cancer UK.

But when he signed up, he was not expecting to be faced with torrential rain and biting winds in August.

Riders had to battle with Hurricane Bertha as it swept the UK – and shaved 14 miles off their 100-mile route.

Organisers cut out part of the route, due to the bad weather.

Duncan, 53, completed the ride, which took place on August 10, in four hours and 23 minutes.

He said: "It was a great day and I really enjoyed it."

"The best thing about it was that I got around £1,200 for the charity."

"The public's response was fantastic – when I set out to do it I thought 'if I raise £500 that would be all right'."

Duncan, of Trinity Link, Haverhill, told that the first 50 miles were the worst – with the wind and rain blowing in his direction.

The weather was not cold, he said, so it could have been worse.

"The young people that are laid up in hospital with cancer would give an arm and a leg to be out there in the rain," Duncan said.

"What they wouldn't give to be out there cycling helped to give me a perspective – we are the lucky people."

Duncan, who works at International Flavours and Fragrances in Haverhill, has already entered the ballot for next year's event.

It opened on Monday.

If accepted, he hopes to raise money for a local charity and help the public.

He added: "I would like to do something for one of the charities in Haverhill so the local people and the town can benefit."

The ballot will be revealed in February next year.

DEDICATION: Duncan Thomas at the end of the ride

Duncan also took part in the same event last year, for Breast Cancer Care. He raised £800.

To make a donation, visit uk.virgin-

Duncan also has collection boxes in The Woolpack pub, in Queen Street, and Aerocycles, in Falconer Road.

Havebury to consult community before garages are demolished

SEVENTEEN garages will be demolished to make way for affordable housing – but the public's concerns will be addressed first.

Planning permission to knock down garages in Cambridge Way, Haverhill, was granted at a committee meeting earlier this month.

But housing provider Havebury Housing Partnership has said that there is "work to do with the local community" before construction can begin.

The plan, for six affordable homes, forms part of the provider's Affordable Homes Programme for 2015-2018.

Paul Edwards, director of resources at Havebury, said: "We are pleased that permission has been granted for our plans to provide new homes for people in need, and are aware that we have some work to do with the local community in terms of addressing their concerns during the construction phase."

He added: "We will ensure we continue to keep all those affected by this development informed of our progress."

At a meeting in July, councillors ruled they were "minded to refuse" the application – but it was then approved on August 7 with only a handful voting against it.

Concerns about parking were previously expressed by councillors – with some worried about the precedent this would set for further housing in the town.

tions – to get the ball rolling, not leading questions – on how our £1.5 million budget shortfall might be met, as well as asking for additional or alternative ones to help us save our taxpayers' money."

The savings ideas are being collated by Cllrs Diane Hind, who represents Northgate, and David Nettleton, who represents Risbygate.

They will be passed on to officers and discussed by councillors at a later date.

Cllr Hind said: "When it comes up for discussion we will be able to put forward some alternatives. They will then know there is not just one point of view – that there are some others."

She also criticised the "badly phrased" and "restrictive questions" asked in the survey.

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tim Law feels that it's all about service. 'Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, with a new 5 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole.'

Cloudy2Clear service the Haverhill, Cambridge, Ely, Saffron Walden, Royston &

Newmarket areas and Tim is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success. 'The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated.'

So, if your windows are steamed up, broken or damaged give Tim a call for a free quotation on 0800 61 21 118 and he'll be happy to help!

NEWS IN BRIEF

Next full council meeting

HAVERHILL Town Council will not hold a full meeting this month.

The next full council session is scheduled for September 30.

For meeting dates visit haverhill-tc.gov.uk

Focus on speeding drivers

MOTORISTS who speed are being targeted as part of a police campaign.

Suffolk and Norfolk police forces are taking part in the initiative until Sunday. It includes increased checks.

There will also be further enforcement action taken across the counties.

Drivers caught speeding will get a £100 fine and three points on their licence.

Some may get the option to complete a speed awareness course, and others may face court.

Chief Inspector Chris Spinks, head of Norfolk and Suffolk Roads Policing Unit, said: "The limits are in place for a reason, to reduce casualties and keep the roads safe for everyone."

"During this campaign we'll be speaking to drivers using a mixture of education and enforcement to get the message through to slow down."

Visit health stall on market

A MARKET stall health roadshow will arrive in Haverhill this weekend.

Residents will be able to share their views with West Suffolk Clinical Commissioning Group (CCG) staff on Saturday.

Visitors to the stall will also be asked for their opinions on current proposals for services in the area.

Partner agencies, including Suffolk Family Carers, Healthwatch Suffolk and Care UK.

The stall will be on the town's market from 8am until 2pm.

SIGN UP:
Schools across Haverhill have signed up to participate in Let's Read.

Still time to sign up

A MEETING for volunteers in our Let's Read project is being held next week.

Those who have signed up for the scheme, being run in partnership with Haverhill's schools, will meet for the first time next Thursday, August 28, to find out more about what's involved.

But you still have time to sign up too.

All we want is a few hours of your time, each week, to listen to children read. Your help could help create a love of reading in young people – and improve their overall skills.

DEBRA FOX

Participating schools in the scheme are Burton End Community Primary School, Castle Manor Academy, Churchill Special Free School, Clements Community Primary School, New Cangle Community Primary School, Place Farm Primary Academy, Samuel Ward Academy and Westfield Primary Academy.

So far, more than 50 people, including 17 members of staff from Barclays Bank on the High Street, have signed up.

Andy Prestoe, head of school at Samuel Ward, has hailed the scheme as a "fantastic opportunity" for the community to support their local schools.

He added: "Reading is vital for every aspect of education, and encouraging a love of reading is so important."

"I would encourage everybody, if they have got the time, to sign up and support the next generation of readers."

The scheme is also being supported by Haverhill

Library.

If you are over 18, willing to have a DBS check carried out, and can spare a couple of hours a week please attend our meeting on August 28 at Haverhill Library, from 5.30pm, to find out more.

After this date, we will be passing information to schools so checks can begin and we can take the next step to the scheme getting under way.

West Suffolk projects backed

INNOVATIVE projects designed by West Suffolk councils have been backed by the Government.

Forest Heath District Council, St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Suffolk County Council have formed a partnership which has been accepted onto the One Public Estate programme.

Projects the partnership creates will benefit from Government funding.

Those created so far, such as a public service hub in Mildenhall, and a public service village in Bury St Edmunds, will also be carried forward by the Government.

The ambition is to bring council, education, health, leisure and police services to one location. This will make it easier for customers, and save costs for the partner authorities.

Cllr John Griffiths, leader of St Edmundsbury said: "We are the trailblazers for delivering on innovative and ambitious schemes, which not only benefit the taxpayer by saving money, but our residents and businesses by improving access to our services."

Only 20 local authorities have been chosen for the One Public Estate programme.

NEWS IN BRIEF

SNT meeting set for September

THE next meeting of Haverhill's Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) is on September 8.

The meeting, at Haverhill Arts Centre, will see members of the public select their policing priorities for the next quarter.

Currently, officers are carrying out more foot patrols in burglary "hot-spots", tackling drug crime and clamping down on illegal use of pedal cycles on pavements in the town centre.

The meeting will also be the first attended by new SNT sergeant Matt Gilbert.

Visit haverhillvote.co.uk to watch the meeting online and submit your new priorities ahead of the night.

New record system for hospital

A MULTI-million pound system will be installed at West Suffolk Hospital.

The electronic patient record (EPR) project will enable staff to have instant access to real-time digital records.

This initiative will improve safety, prevent duplication and reduce costs.

All available information about each patient will be brought into one place, and remove the need for paper records.

More than £17 million is to be invested in the project over the next 10 years.

It is expected to make savings of £22.4 million in the same time period.

Girls Night Out almost here

PYJAMA-clad women are still being sought for a charity fundraiser.

St Nicholas Hospice Care will hold its annual Girls Night Out event next month.

The event is taking place in Bury St Edmunds on September 13.

Visit stnicholashospicecare.org.uk for more information and to sign up.

ART: One of the pieces at the Art of Peace exhibition.

The art of peace for August

A SPECIAL exhibition to celebrate peace is on display at Haverhill Arts Centre.

The Art of Peace includes contributions from primary school pupils, which show what peace means to them, their families, Haverhill, Great Britain and the world.

Pieces, created by Year 6 children at Place Farm Primary Academy, show the natural environment, pets, sport, freedom and kindness.

It is the second Art of Peace exhibition to be held.

The exhibition, by Havepeace, is on display until the end of August.

Sarah is new chamber president

A NEW president has been voted into the hotseat at the Suffolk Chamber of Commerce.

Haverhill businesswoman Sarah Howard, director of Sarand Ltd, will take on the role of president after a unanimous vote from her peers.

Sarah, pictured, replaces Dr Peter Funnell, director at Oakmere Solutions. He held the post for four years.

Mrs Howard said: "It is an honour and a privilege to become the president of Suffolk Chamber of Commerce."

"As an organisation we have over 130 years of speaking up for business, and I am looking forward to ensuring all of our members have a voice wherever and whenever it is needed."

Dr Funnell had a successful term of office, which included the No Toll Tax on Suffolk campaign.

John Dugmore, chief executive of Suffolk Chamber, praised the chamber, which is now ranked as the largest in the East of England.

Mrs Howard added: "Under Peter's stewardship we have also become only the second chamber in the UK to successfully secure and launch a Business Improvement District, through our subsidiary company Lowestoft Vision."

There are a number of other chambers across Suffolk at a grassroots level, including Haverhill and Bury St Edmunds.

Sarand was set up in 1994 and designs and develops bespoke software to suit businesses and other challenges.

At the AGM in July, three new board members were also welcomed to the Suffolk chamber.

Amy Starkey, managing director of Newmarket Racecourses, Patrice Love, director of marketing and HR at Timberwold and Stephen Britt, managing director of Anchor Storage, joined the board.

Cheryl scales new heights in bid to make a difference to the world

HIGH ACHIEVER: Cheryl Sayers – the widow of local legend Dennis of Grunty Fen (aka country musician Pete Sayers, inset right) – is going for the world record of a British woman climbing the highest volcano in the world in Chile

Picture by Keith Heppell

Since losing her husband Pete – better known to many as Dennis of Grunty Fen – to cancer, Cheryl Sayers has gone to extremes to raise both cash and awareness for Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust. Her latest challenge? To climb the globe's highest volcano, writes Lydia Fallon

TO say Cheryl Sayers has a determined streak would be a colossal understatement. From scaling the world's highest mountains to competing in triathlons against people nearly half her age, the grandmother-of-four has a back catalogue packed full of truly inspiring achievements.

"It's just normal for me," she says with a twinkle in her eye. "People say to me 'what possessed you?' but I just want to show people that you can do anything you put your mind to. If you have an adventurous spirit, keep fit and look after yourself, you can do exactly what you set out to do."

Cheryl's latest challenge is the most breathtaking of the lot. On November 15, she will begin a trek to become the first British woman to climb Ojos del Salado in Chile – the world's highest volcano at a huge 6,893m. Having summited Mount Kilimanjaro in 2006 and climbed the volcano Licancabur in the Atacama Desert in 2008, the yoga teacher is no stranger to jaw-dropping heights, but this one really ups the ante. "It's my biggest challenge to date and definitely the highest," she smiles. "Although no one believes me, this challenge is going to be my last really big one. So I wanted to make it my hardest one yet and raise as much money as I possibly can."

She adds, laughing: "I'm going with some other women too, but want to get there first. When I get to the top I'll do a gentle nudge and pretend it's the wind!"

The death-defying trek will take two weeks and along the way Cheryl, who's in her 60s, will face plummeting temperatures, extreme altitude and the small issue of an active volcano. Even for a seasoned adventurer, it's a terrifying prospect. "I've been suitably terrorised by various things I've read: like people dying at the 'death zone' which is 21,000 feet up and I'll be at 23,000, nearly 24!" Cheryl chuckles nervously.

"I don't sleep very well at altitude because of the lack of oxygen and I will probably go through entire nights and days without sleeping. It will be very windy and so cold I'll have to wear double boots, that's a boot within a boot. I'm not looking forward to that!"

Cheryl, who lives in Cambridge and works at Nuffield Health Fitness and Wellbeing Centre (where she's also been training), is embarking on the epic challenge to fundraise for ACT (Addenbrooke's Charitable Trust), and aims to raise £5,000 for the charity's Act on Cancer campaign.

Having lost her beloved husband Pete to the disease, it is, she says, a cause incredibly close to her heart. "The Addenbrooke's oncology department is incredible; they are wonderful to their patients and could not have done more for Pete to try and turn his illness around," she says.

"When I was there at the unit with him, I was touched deeply by the journey people who have cancer go through, and I want to do all I can to help raise money and awareness."

"While we have our health we have options, we can be proactive and try and make the world a better place. People that are fighting cancer have very few choices. I want to push myself to the limits not because I have to but because I can, and in doing so help those that are fighting their own

Better known to many as his alter-ego Dennis of Grunty Fen, Pete Sayers was a singer, songwriter and comedian, whose down to earth banter entertained Radio Cambridgeshire listeners for 17 years. He married Cheryl, his second wife, in 2004 after the pair met at one of Cheryl's yoga classes decades earlier. Pete lost his battle to prostate cancer just a year after the wedding.

"Pete was diagnosed with cancer in 2000. He didn't get the proper diagnosis at first, so he spent a whole year being ill, but he never complained. Once they found out what it actually was it had had time to spread and unfortunately it just got out of hand," Cheryl remembers.

The couple were told it was terminal and Pete was given just three months to live. He amazingly battled the disease for five years, spending his final moments travelling the world with Cheryl. "He had such a powerful spirit," says Cheryl fondly. "He stayed strong through his beliefs, his music and his friends; they were wonderful and really kept his spirits up. I think if you have something you enjoy doing, like Pete with his music, then it helps you to live life more."

"Pete was a spiritual man and he loved the earth, he really connected with the land and it kept him going. He had a lot to live for; we should all have a lot to live for."

It must have been heartbreaking to see the man she loved experiencing such pain? "His strength kept me strong," says Cheryl simply.

Pete succumbed to the disease in 2005; Cheryl was heartbroken but from that day vowed to raise as much money as she possibly could in his memory. "Pete is a great loss, but his spirit lives on. His death made me want to do something for the world, in whatever way, rather than just being. I wanted to make a difference. He did, that was always his philosophy."

And Cheryl has certainly done that. In the nine years since Pete's death she has pushed her body to its limits, raising thousands of pounds in the process. From cycling 160 miles across Israel to, most recently, competing in the London Triathlon, where she finished second in her age group, she's certainly not one for putting her feet up. "It's probably because there weren't many people my age silly enough to do it," she laughs, adding, "I like to push myself to my limits to find out what we humans are capable of, and what we women are capable of. You have a lot of TV series with men and their challenges, doing incredible things. But I want to do it for the ladies and show if you are strong-willed, it doesn't matter how old you are."

Her fundraising has also been a source of comfort in the darkest of times. "You never get over the loss but it's important you turn it into something positive and live your life," she says.

"When you're doing treks or challenges and you know you're not just doing it for yourself, it gives you extra momentum; you know the pain is worth it. You're doing it for a cause and for a reason."

"When I was climbing Kilimanjaro I felt like giving up, but then I realised I had a choice to continue and people who are ill don't have a choice. I knew then I had to carry on. Other people were sitting on the side of the mountain, but I kept going. When I realised I had a choice, my choice was to carry on and make it to the summit." How did it feel when she finally reached the top? "It was incredible," she enthuses. "It is just such an addictive feeling; it shows you can do anything you put your mind to."

Cheryl's thirst for adventure has been lifelong. She grew up near Table Mountain in South Africa and spent a childhood immersed in the great outdoors.

"We could hear the leopards barking on the mountain at night," she remembers fondly.

"My dad was in the Light Horse Brigade in India at the time of the Second World War and was a great adventurer; he'd take my brother and me out swimming and climbing and he instilled that love of the land in me and my children."

Cheryl intends to make Ojos del Salado her last big adventure, but certainly has no plans to slow down just yet. "I'm always looking for my next challenge," she smiles. "I can't imagine ever slowing down; it's not in my genes!"

"I love life and I love being a human being."

Next year it will be 10 years since Pete's death, but Cheryl says she still misses him every single day. "I miss his presence and his music; every day he played the guitar and I miss that so much. It's been nearly 10 years but it feels like a day. It was such a special relationship; any time with him was a blessing."

"His spirit never dies; if you're a powerful person and do things for the world, your spirit will live on forever."

As she prepares to embark on the biggest challenge of her life, what does Cheryl think would be Pete's words of encouragement? "Do it girl!"

ON YOUR MARKS: The Scalextric track at Swavesey Festival.

Fayre is on the fast track

A NEW attraction is coming to Thurlow fayre this year – in the form of a six-lane Scalextric track.

The creation, by Bill Rogers, has visited fetes, carnivals and fayres across the region to raise funds for the East Anglian Air Ambulance.

Now he's bringing the figure-eight track to Thurlow.

Mr Rogers hopes to raise £2,400 by the end of the summer – the cost of one helicopter mission.

Plots on the track are sold to local businesses in exchange for a donation. Mr Rogers will then make a scenario advertising the business.

Thurlow Fayre is taking place on September 7 from noon until 4pm. It costs £2 for adults, 50p for children and free for under 5s.

Visit thurlowfayre.org.uk and email Mr Rogers on penguinbill@googlemail.com if you want to make a donation to the track.

Still time to have a say on budget

DEBRA FOX

RESIDENTS have one more day to suggest money-saving ideas for the next financial year.

St Edmundsbury Borough Council needs to make £1.5 million of savings in 2015/16 – and is looking to the public for suggestions to meet the target.

Cllr John Griffiths, pictured, leader of St Edmundsbury Borough Council, said the local authority has already saved £3.5 million by combining services with Forest Heath District Council.

But there is much more to be done, he said, in a bid to keep council tax down.

"There will be less money available to St Edmundsbury next year, and we still need to reduce our budget for 2015/16 by a further £1.5 million," the council leader said.

"None of us wish to see our valued services disappear, or compromise on their quality, but we have to look at new and event better ways of delivering them while raising money or cutting costs further, or both."

No decisions will be taken until residents have been given the opportunity to comment, Cllr Griffiths added, and any savings will be "considered carefully".

Responses and suggestions to the council's ideas will be taken into account during the budget-setting process, which is set to take place in autumn.

The final budget will be decided in February next year.

All responses have to be received by the end of the day tomorrow.

Cllr Griffiths said: "Please take the time to take part in this budget consultation, and help us to continue to keep our council tax down and to maintain the enviable services and quality of life we enjoy here in St Edmundsbury."

Visit stedmundsbury.gov.uk/budgetsurvey2014 to complete the survey online.

Residents can also visit Haverhill House, Lower Downs Slade, or West Suffolk House, in Bury St Edmunds, to complete the survey in person.

REACH's resource centre has welcomed more than 2,700 people through the door and assisted with housing, benefits, job-searching, food and furniture.

The charity also celebrated its fifth birthday in May this year with a charity dinner – attended by guests and supporters. This event alone raised £5,000.

IDEA: The sketch of the proposed homes on the site, by Richard Pike Associates.

Opinion sought on revised plan for new homes

OPINIONS have been sought by a housing provider on a potential plan for new homes.

Town councillors were asked for their views by Havebury Housing Partnership on the option to build homes on Haverhill's Lower Downs Slade.

A previous application for the site was refused by members at St Edmundsbury Borough Council's Development Control Committee earlier this year, over parking concerns, the traffic impact on the town centre and road safety.

The application was for eight affordable homes and four garages.

This time around, Havebury is trying to gauge what the support would be for a similar application – but with no parking element attached.

The idea was discussed at Haverhill Town Council's planning committee meeting last week.

Colin Poole, town clerk, said: "The applicant wishes to know whether or not, in principle, if an application was brought forward that did not include parking because there is sufficient parking nearby, would the town council be minded to be happy with such a proposal?"

Cllr Phillip French expressed concerns about how potential residents would pay for public car parking, while Cllr Roger André, town mayor, said there needs to be "some provision" for parking addressed in the application.

Speaking at the meeting, Cllr Clive Turner said: "If they are planning to do this without necessarily putting vehicle access on the street and looking for alternative parking, then I don't think we should have a problem with it at all."

"But it should be made very clear what the tenants or owners of the property would be expected to do when it comes to parking provision, such as where they are supposed to park and the security of their vehicles."

It is expected that a revised planning application, for eight homes, will be entered to the borough council soon.

The site is near a short-stay public car park. It costs £1 for up to three hours.

Group of friends raise £986 for accident rescue service funds

A CHARITY day has raised almost £1,000 for Suffolk Accident Rescue Service.

Friends Lucy James, Matt Plumb, Adam Cheverton and Charlotte Denley organised the event, held at The Bull, Haverhill, on July 26. It was held in memory of Peter James, who died in December last year after a road traffic collision.

The day of live music, refreshments and entertainment raised a mammoth £986.

Acts included Flux

32, Stereo Jack, Fenir and more.

The organisers also received donations for their barbecue, including rolls from Warburtons and barbecues from Haverhill Lions Club.

The event banners and programmes were provided by Stylize Display Graphics.

Lucy, Peter's wife, said: "We received a considerable amount of help and support from friends and family, and would like to thank them all for their support."

Stacey's an export expert thanks to commerce course

A HAVERHILL delegate is one of six chamber of commerce members to achieve a new qualification.

Stacey Garner, from International Flavours and Fragrances, joined five colleagues from Cambridgeshire Chambers of Commerce to take part in a course.

The Foundation Award in International Trade helps participants learn how to meet the needs of exporters. It also provides other transferable skills for employees.

Margaret Chadwick, course tutor, said: "It has been both a privilege and a pleasure to encourage delegates on their journey through the material and to see them emerge with greater understanding and knowledge."

"I am certain that the skills learnt will assist them in their chosen career paths."

The course was developed by the British Chambers of Commerce and is being delivered by chambers across the UK. Cambridgeshire Chambers of Commerce processes more than 1,000 documents each month to assist with shipping goods overseas.

Refreshing Car Scan sees you (and your car) right

AS the less mechanically minded motorist knows, getting your car serviced can sometimes be an intimidating experience. Haverhill company Car Scan recognises this – and prides itself on offering a refreshing alternative.

Owned by Robbie Watts and with a friendly team of six that includes daughter Nalani, mechanical expertise clearly runs in the family. Robbie himself has been in the trade for 35 years, and although Nalani is still just 22, she has been working with cars since she was 15, with a real passion for the business too.

The mechanics and technicians at the firm are always very happy to explain what work needs doing on your car: and will even get your motor up on the ramp and talk you through the problems, if you like. As Nalani says: "There's nothing worse than bringing your car to a garage and getting completely ripped off because you don't understand what's going on." So with Car Scan you can always be assured of an explanation in simple and straightforward terms.

The company offers a full range of services – "mostly everything" as Nalani says – from servicing, general repairs and diagnostic scanning to tyres, tracking, exhausts and old fittings.

And now is the ideal time to take a drive out to Car Scan, at its Raymond Court base in Haverhill. They are currently offering class 4 MOTs at a bargain price of £34.99 (a great saving on the usual cost of £58), and are also running another promotion where they will provide free tracking for every two new tyres that you buy.

So whether you are a knowledgeable and experienced motorist yourself, or the mysteries of the engine leave you bemused, Car Scan will provide you with a warm welcome, non-patronising advice, and an honest service. Visit them at Unit 10, Raymond Court, Piperell Way, Haverhill CB9 8PH.

GUIDEAutumn

Anyone else sick of feeling hot and sticky? Bored of sunblock? Tired of barbecues and sunny afternoons and dips in the lido? Yeah, not quite ... Then again, there's so much to look forward to this autumn. ELLA WALKER picks out highlights in the worlds of music, comedy, theatre, family, books and film over the coming months...

Martha Reeves & the Vandellas!

What a legend! What a diva! Motown hero Martha Reeves hails from Alabama, is a former Detroit politician and came up with the likes of Nowhere to Run, Jimmy Mack, and absolute classic Dancing In The Street. And she almost always wears sequins! Now 73, she's just performed at the Secret Garden Party (she was unbelievably good – her voice hasn't deteriorated at all, and she's dead chatty too), and is still singing alongside her early girl band friends, the Vandellas. She's magnificent.

Cambridge Corn Exchange, Wednesday, September 17. Tickets £24.50-£28.50 from (01223) 357851.

The Magic Numbers

Ever-so hirsute and made up of two pairs of brothers and sisters, The Magic Numbers are talented makers of pop-rock with happy-go-lucky hooks. 2005's single, Love Me Like You, had them blasting out wistfully (but jauntily) across radio stations non-stop, leading to a

ALISON BALSOM

Mercury Music Prize nomination. They've been rather absent of late, specifically since 2010 album The Runaway, but are back this month with new record Alias. Let's hope it's a return to form.

Cambridge Junction, Saturday, September 20. Tickets £16 from (01223) 511511.

Sophie Ellis-Bextor

Fresh from a very successful stint on Strictly Come Dancing (she was a pro at being whisked round by Brendan Cole), Sophie Ellis-Bextor is back with a new, self-released album, Wanderlust. The 35-year-old came to the fore in 2000 on DJ Spiller's dance track Groovejet before feuding publicly with Victoria Beckham and marrying The Feeling's bassist, Richard Jones. Her offbeat solo material tends to come with quirky videos chock-a-block with vintage fashion and showcasing Ellis-Bextor's ridiculously beautiful face. Most enviable of all of course is the fact her mum is former Blue Peter presenter Janet Ellis.

Cambridge Junction, Wednesday, September 24. Tickets £21 from (01223) 511511.

Alison Balsom: The Trumpet Sings

Affectionately called the "trumpet crumpet" (she came up with the tag herself), Royston-born trumpet soloist Alison Balsom is the star of the British brass scene. Post A-levels at Hills Road, she went on to become the go-to girl for mind-blowing classical feats, hence why she has so many Classical Brit awards to her name. Balsom will be joined on the night by jazz trumpeter Guy Barker and organist Chad Kelly, performing a repertoire that includes everything from Bach to Gershwin and Ravel to Satie.

Cambridge Corn Exchange, Thursday, October 9. Tickets £19.50-£32.50 from (01223) 357851.

Seth Lakeman

Fresh from performing at the 50th Cambridge Folk Festival (the chiselled singer-songwriter is not what you'd call a stranger to these parts), serious folkster Seth Lakeman is going out on tour. Nominated for the Mercury Music Prize for his 2004 album, Kitty Jay, the new dad is returning with his latest album, Word of Mouth. Packed with tunes marking "hidden histories and unsung everyday heroes", BBC Radio 2 are big fans of the 36-year-old – as are we – and it's doing incredibly well in the roots world.

SOPHIE ELLIS-BEXTOR

Cambridge Corn Exchange, Wednesday, October 22. Tickets £20.50-£25 from (01223) 357851.

Blood Brothers

Blood Brothers gets no less heartrending, regardless how many times you've seen it. A classic story of twin brothers torn apart at birth and brought up in entirely different worlds, only to collide with catastrophic consequences, the musical has racked up numerous awards, repeatedly stormed the West End and still has the energy, soul and charged atmosphere to leave you a shivery, weepy mess (in a good way, of course). Cambridge Arts Theatre, Tuesday, September 2 – Saturday, September 6. Tickets £15-£35 from (01223) 503333.

Not I/Footfalls/Rockaby

A trio of dark pieces taken from Samuel Beckett's later works, these plays haunt, impress and astound. Performed by actress Lisa Dwan, Not I is a physically demanding role that features Dwan as a mouth, suspended in darkness. A nine-minute stream of consciousness follows, leaving you stunned and uneasy. Footfalls focuses on a woman pacing a room like a metronome while Rockaby sees an old woman contemplate loneliness in a rocking chair that tips of its own accord. Eerie, powerful stuff.

Cambridge Arts Theatre, Tuesday, September 9 – Saturday, September 13. Tickets £15-£25 from (01223) 503333.

Hay Fever

Felicity Kendal once again strays into the world of Noel Coward in comedy of bad manners, Hay Fever. First staged in 1925, the setting is a sprawling country house in Berkshire, filled with the Bliss family. All perpetual show-offs and never willing to share the limelight, the whole melodramatic lot of them each invite a friend for the weekend with disastrous consequences. The guests – and the audience – witness just how terribly behaved the Bliss family are, and how far they'll go for attention. It's Coward, so it will sparkle like you wouldn't believe.

Cambridge Arts Theatre, Monday, September 29 – Saturday, October 4. Tickets £15-£35 from (01223) 503333.

INALA

Legendary South African a capella group Ladysmith Black Mambazo have joined up with the Royal Ballet and dance troupe Rambert to meld movement with live world music. The Grammy Award-winning group, which formed in 1969, has performed for Nelson Mandela, worked with Paul Simon on his much loved record Graceland and collaborated with Dolly Parton (seriously, Dolly!) Together with INALA's composers, they have fused western dance with the soaring sounds of South Africa in a show titled INALA which means 'abundance of goodwill' in Zulu.

Cambridge Corn Exchange, Saturday, October 4. Tickets £22-£25 from (01223) 357851.

Perfect Nonsense

The beautiful Matt from Channel 4's Teachers (bringing it back!), aka, James Lance, who also starred in I'm Alan Partridge, and West End veteran John Gordon Sinclair (The Producers, The Ladykillers) join forces to play Jeeves and Wooster in Perfect Nonsense. Straight from the West End, and winner of the 2014 Olivier Award for Best New Comedy, you're in for a side-splitting treat. Based on PG Wodehouse's legendary characters – the foolish, foppish Wooster and his long-suffering valet Jeeves – they're off on a raucous country house-related escapade.

Cambridge Arts Theatre, Monday, October 6 – Saturday, October 11. Tickets £15-£35 from (01223) 503333.

The Full Monty

Can you believe The Full Monty film is almost two decades old? It's such a good story though – a bunch of jobless Sheffield steel workers turn to stripping to make some cash, if you didn't know – it's no wonder it won't go away. All the big numbers, including Hot Chocolate's You Sexy Thing and Tom Jones' You Can Leave Your Hat On will be there, straight from the West End. It'll be a fantastic, shriekworthy night out. Ready to catch those belts, ladies?

Cambridge Arts Theatre, Monday, October 13 – Saturday, October 18. Tickets £15-£35 from (01223) 503333.

■ On the theatre front there's something to look forward to on Thursday August 28 at 11.30am or 2.30pm, when Blunderbus Theatre return with HUGLESS DOUGLAS, a huggable, lovable young brown bear who wakes up one morning in need of a hug. He tries to find the perfect one but none of them seem quite right. After all, there are so many different hugs to choose from. But Douglas soon discovers that there's only one hug that will do – a big bear hug from his mum! The show is based on the book by internationally-acclaimed author/illustrator David Melling. This delightful new show comes to life with an irresistible blend of music, puppetry and high-energy storytelling. Little Cubs aged 3 - 7 years old will love this heartwarming tale, but grown-up bears will have lots of fun, too!

■ Events to look out for include the return of Beverley Craven on Friday September 5 at 8pm. The BRIT-Award winner is embarking on an extensive UK tour supporting the release of her brand new album, Change Of Heart, being launched this summer. And Frank Williams (the vicar from Dad's Army) remembers a lifetime in entertainment on Saturday September 6 at 3pm. film of the week

LUCY (15, 89 mins)

DERRIERE-numbingly long films may be all the rage but at a lean 89 minutes, Lucy, the new action thriller from Luc Besson, is all the better for bucking this Hollywood trend.

And with a kidnapping, killing sprees and questionable drugs thrown into the fray, there's certainly enough in that hour and a half to halt you from slipping out of the cinema.

Lucy (Scarlett Johansson) is a carefree student living in Taiwan, who is tricked by her new boyfriend Richard into doing his dirty work and carrying a briefcase, jam-packed with potent new drugs, into a hotel for him.

But there's no time for pleasantries here and before the concierge has greeted Lucy, Richard has been dispatched and Lucy is held hostage by the neighbourhood's merciless mob of local drug lords headed up by the unsparing Mr Jang (Choi Min-sik).

Waking up, Lucy discovers that the mob has taken the liberty of surgically implanting thousand of pounds worth of a deadly blue drug, CPH4, which increases the user's brain capacity, into her stomach.

And more than that, if the bright blue crystals leak, it will kill her.

But leak it does and Lucy, who is sent across the world as a drug mule, soon finds her brain working on disturbing new levels, signposted in the film with frequent updates on the percentage of brain capacity she's using.

As well as being hell-bent on exacting revenge on the mobsters, Lucy also busies herself by tracking down the eminent professor Samuel Norman (Morgan Freeman) in Paris who has spent decades researching the brain's potential.

In a deft twist to Johansson's role as a human-like operating system in Spike Jonze's Her, Lucy sees the actress' voice take on a lifeless tone, shedding personality and lightness as her brain's potential expands.

Much has been made of the film's neurological theory not stacking up, but scientific soundness isn't the mission here – entertainment is.

And while there are some rather odd moments – the flashes to a prehistoric Lucy, the strained conversation Lucy has with her mum and the missed opportunity to kill Mr Jang while she can – Lucy is nevertheless a punchy film, which demands your attention every minute of the way.

Holiday blues?

GARDENERS who went on holiday confident that friends and family would water, deadhead and harvest their crops in their absence must be feeling pretty smug.

But what about those of us who didn't have the luxury of a mate to water the garden while we were sunning ourselves elsewhere? What about those who just didn't find time to install an automatic irrigation system?

Well, you now have to look at the mess that remains and consider what's worth saving and what isn't.

Annual bedding plants in containers and baskets are unlikely to recover fully if the weather's been scorching and they've been left in the sun, so it might be a case of taking an executive decision, tipping them out and starting again.

Plants such as lobelia and soft, fleshy plants including fuchsias and tomatoes are much less likely to survive than drought-tolerant plants such as pelargoniums.

You may find a few bargains of late summer blooms in your local garden centre to brighten up the scene, but if you're on a budget it's probably better to invest in some spring bulbs for planting, or get a head start on autumn and winter planting designs.

If you're not going to use your containers for winter displays, clean them out, wipe them down and put them away. Don't leave terracotta pots out for pests like slugs and snails to hide under. If you leave them out too long, they'll just crack when the frost comes too.

Containers holding year-round-interest plants such as shrubs or evergreens may benefit from being submerged in a bucket of water to re-wet the compost, but it is difficult to tell if the compost is thoroughly soaked and it is important not to waterlog the plants.

After re-wetting, robust architectural plants such as phormiums and box can be lifted out of their containers with their root system intact so you can see if the compost has been completely soaked through.

Clematis in containers are more likely to survive a week without watering if they are in big pots and have other plants around them, says world-famous, award-winning clematis specialist Raymond Evison.

"If a clematis is in a pot 2ft in diameter and 2ft deep it should survive well. Those in smaller containers, say 15in in diameter and 18in deep, will suffer some damage after a week of really hot weather with no water.

Place other plant material around it in the pot, which will create a micro-climate so that the clematis has a cooler root system."

After a week with no water, the clematis will look pretty sorry for itself and new growth is likely to have shrivelled up. Give it a good soak, trim it down to around 18in and give it a feed with tomato or rose food and it should come back and may even flower again in October.

Border perennials and shrubs are much more likely to survive your absence, but if you have overgrown weeds on your return, pick them out to stop them shedding seeds which will cause you problems later. Deadhead all your border plants and give them a good water and they should recover.

Continue to deadhead roses and cut back finished summer-flowering perennials, removing supports which propped up the plants which have stopped flowering. These can be cleaned with a mild detergent and put away until next year.

If no-one has picked your crops, you are likely to come home to a large amount of stringy, tough runner beans which will need to be put on the compost heap, and the plants will probably have stopped flowering. Pick all the beans off the plants, give them a feed with a tomato feed and they may start producing again. Dig up other vegetable plants which have succumbed to the prolonged hot weather, clearing vacant rows and refilling them with autumn and winter crops as soon as you can.

Some gardeners can become more relaxed about pest and disease control once they've had their two weeks holiday, but ignore them at your peril – you may be storing up problems that will remain dormant until next year. Cut off or prune out affected parts of diseased plants and burn or dispose of them so that overwintering spores won't survive.

Pest control is also important. Be aware that many biological controls become less reliable when the temperature drops as the predatory insects which provide the control then multiply more slowly. Take off shoots on plants which are infested with greenfly or blackfly and dispose of them.

If you've been one of the unlucky ones whose plants seem to have had it this summer, don't worry – you can steal a march on autumn and winter schemes which should keep the garden looking good later on in the season.

Paper tax discs will be no more from October 1

AS of October 1, the Driving Vehicle and Licensing Agency (DVLA) will stop issuing paper tax discs. HPI, provider of hpicheck.com, warns motorists to be aware of the changes and highlights the risk of a fine, as well as facing penalty charges against a vehicle they no longer own.

Car owners still need to have vehicle tax to drive or keep a vehicle on the road, but now the DVLA is taking payments online, including Direct Debit payment options or motorists can visit their local Post Office branch. Instead of using paper tax discs to spot tax evaders, police cameras automatically check a car's number plate. The new rules also put the onus on used car sellers to inform the DVLA, when they sell their vehicle, advises HPI.

"The move away from paper tax discs will save motorists money on postage and offers more flexible payment options, not to mention making it harder for tax dodgers to drive untaxed," explains hpicheck.com's senior consumer services manager, Shane Teskey. "For used car buyers, from October 1, the vehicle tax will no longer be transferred with the vehicle, so it's important to ensure they get tax as soon as possible.

"Importantly, under the new rules, used car sellers are responsible for notifying the DVLA and then they will receive a refund for any months left on the vehicle tax. Sellers who fail to inform the DVLA could be fined and they will still be liable for any speeding or parking fines and vehicle tax for a car they don't even own any more. We remind sellers to always send the V5C to the DVLA, rather than relying on the buyer to do it."

MX-5 success at EMG anniversary

EMG Motor Group is delighted with the success of the MX-5 Anniversary Event at the weekend which was enjoyed by lots of visitors and concluded with 10 limited-edition Mazda MX-5 Anniversary Editions being sold.

"It was very successful with lots of people lots of MX-5 owners and there were a wide cross-section of visitors," said franchise manager David Hazelden. "We had a Mazda specialist driver who did test drives all through the day Saturday and Sunday for models across the range."

"We've sold over 10 MX-5 Anniversary Editions at £22,995 and at the minute there's a finance offer with £500 deposit."

Pretty incredible to think that of the total number of MX-5 Anniversary Editions being made for the global market (700), 1.5 per cent of them have been sold in Cambridge!

Land Rover raises the stakes for sporty SUVs

LAND ROVER is taking the performance SUV fight to Porsche as the Brit luxury car maker has unveiled a 550 horsepower version of its popular Range Rover Sport.

The car, which is being launched at the prestigious Pebble Beach concours event, is the fastest, most powerful Land Rover ever produced and the first to wear the SVR designation being adopted by future Land Rover and Jaguar high-performance models.

The Range Rover Sport SVR accelerates from 0-60mph in 4.5 seconds and boasts a top speed electronically limited to 162mph plus a Nurburgring Nordschleife lap time of 8 minutes 14 seconds – one of the fastest times ever recorded by a production SUV.

Commenting on the new model, John Edwards, managing director of Land Rover's Special Operations, said: "The Range Rover Sport SVR is a natural progression beyond the core vehicle's outstanding on- and off-road capabilities and leading-edge design. Its exhilarating performance will satisfy a particularly demanding customer set.

"A thorough range of revisions

THE LAND ROVER SPORT SVR: Polishes off the 0-60mph run in just 4.5 seconds specially developed by Land Rover's Special Vehicle Operations combine to make this premium derivative even more distinctive both inside and out, as well as taking its dynamic capabilities to the next level without impacting on comfort, refinement or all-terrain versatility. The Range Rover Sport SVR is truly the world's most capable performance SUV."

Customer orders can be placed from October 2014 at an on-the-road price of £93,450 with first deliveries expected in early 2015.

NEW CARS: Sales ready for new plate rush

New car sales the best since 2003

NEW car sales are on course for their best year since 2004.

New registrations in July 2014 totalled 172,907 – a 6.6 per cent rise on the July 2013 figure, the Society of Motor Manufacturers and Traders (SMMT) said.

The latest figures took the year-so-far total to 1,460,172 – a 10.1% rise on the January-July 2013 total.

The SMMT has now upwardly revised its prediction for sales for the whole of 2014, forecasting that a total of 2.45 million could be reached.

This would be 8.1% up on the 2013 total and the best year-end figure since 2004.

SMMT chief executive Mike Hawes said: "July saw the new car market extend its record period of growth to a 29th month, as confident consumers took advantage of an array of new products and attractive finance deals on the latest fuel-efficient new cars.

"The continued positivity has led to an uplift in our full-year forecast. However, the more moderate growth of the last three months shows that overall demand is beginning to stabilise."

KENYUKAN Dojo members had a successful time at the British Kendo Association's Summer Seminar in Stevenage.

Martin Clark, the head of the Haverhill-based dojo, took silver in the Sixth Dan division against his Great Britain team-mate Andy Watson.

KenYukan members shine at the Summer Seminar

Steeple Bumpstead's Tecwyn Lee, who is the youngest member of the dojo, stepped up to gain experience and won the Mudan (ungraded) division, before also passing his First

Dan examination. David Parker, from Royston, also went on to pass Fourth Dan at the first attempt, which was a great achievement as it is considered one of the hardest barriers to overcome. The week also included the annual Ishido Cup, with the competition honouring Eighth Dan sword teachers Oshita Sensei and Morita Sensei.

Rovers made to pay for missed chances

HAVERHILL Rovers were knocked out of the FA Cup at the first hurdle after a 3-0 defeat at home to FC Romania in their extra preliminary round replay on Tuesday night.

The visitors took the lead after 15 minutes of the first half and Rovers were unable to get back on terms before the break despite creating a number of opportunities.

Dalton O'Brien and Andrew Ofosu came closest to scoring for the hosts but FC Romania extended their lead midway through the second half.

A third, as Haverhill pushed forward to chase the game, ended the tie as a contest.

Rovers boss Dean Greygoose said: "We missed three open goals and you can't afford to do that. They had four shots and scored from three of them."

Greygoose had been satisfied with his team's performance in the original tie at the weekend.

"After the Newmarket game the boys had to put in a far better performance and they did that," he said.

"I was quite proud of them in how they responded against a very good team."

Substitute Ben Bradley secured an historic FA Cup win for Haverhill Borough as they defeated Barking 1-0 at home on Saturday.

It was Boro's bow in the FA Cup and manager Ben Cowling was thrilled to see his team rise to the occasion.

"It's our first game in the FA Cup and to come away with a result like that is brilliant," he said.

"Barking are flying at the moment in their league so I'm delighted we won." A closely-contested match saw Boro enjoy the best chances in the first half and they had a goal ruled out for a foul in the build up.

The second half was a more even affair, with Bradley coming on at the break for the injured Aaron Forshaw.

And it was Bradley who scored what turned out to be the winner just after the hour.

Barking piled forward in search of an equaliser but Boro kept them at bay.

Wilkins clinch Haverhill win

DAN Wilkins and Ailie Wilkins were triumphant in the Foxes & Rabbits competition at Haverhill Golf Club.

The club's social committee invited non golfers to take part in the event, which involved the golfer (fox) playing the shots to the green and the non golfer (rabbit) putting out. And the competition was played over 10 holes.

Dan Wilkins and Ailie Wilkins won with a combined score of 41 points.

The winning 'fox' was Jade Wilkins with 17 points and the winning 'rabbit' was Keighley Ellam with 20 putts, on countback.

Nigel Farenden had the edge in the Men's Midweek Medal.

In Division Two, he carded a superb nett 64 to take the overall crown as well. Martin Mansfield was second in the division on countback from Howard Craven after both fired 66.

Neil Farlie was first in Division One with nett 66, beating Matthew Farlie by two shots. Michael Goldsmith was third with 69.

In Division Three, Craig Fleming secured top spot with nett 66, three clear of Peter Jennings. David Hiscox was third with 71.

Points finish eludes Paffett

A PROMISING start to the latest round of DTM action at the Nurburgring proved to be a false dawn for Gary Paffett as he once again failed to score any points.

The free practice session saw the Haverhill driver post promising times but all that changed in qualifying.

Mixed conditions made tyre choice difficult and the 2005 champion could only finish the session in 23rd place.

His situation went from bad to worse at the start of Sunday's race as he and Timo Glock tangled on lap two while fighting over 20th position.

Paffett's Euronics Mercedes AMG C-Coupe was damaged in the incident, and although he was able to continue, the car was badly affected.

He and Glock were still fighting it out as the race progressed, and on lap 39 Paffett finally overtook Glock for the last time to finish in 16th place.

BMW driver Marco Wittmann won the race.

The championship resumes at the Lausitzring on September 12.
